

It is next impossible in this country. In our DNA corruption is there. Modi can only control the rate of corruption.

G K Gandhi

Modi can definitely do it but he has to start from the top political leaders. Corruption is there at the highest level.

G S Mathur (DGP Retd)

Modi can never do this. This is only a "Chunavi Jumla".

Mridula Agrawal

Why you say Modi's dream of eradicating corruption as if no one else wants to eradicate corruption.

P V Rajeev

Modiji's dream for corruption elimination should be actively supported by Chief Ministers. Here it is to mention that public or common man are mostly interfaced and serviced by state govts. and there is rampant corruption in services provided by them like Police, Development Authorities, Municipal Corporations, Power Corporations, Land Registrations, issuance of driving licenses/ration cards etc. The state govts should do their best for e-governance and make things simpler and transparent. The Chief Minister should also allow CBI for checking anti corruption activities in their states suo-motto otherwise Modi through act of parliament should extend jurisdiction of CBI upon bribery cases of state governments. This will have a very good impact upon common man.

Prasun Banerji

One big element of corruption is the misuse of officer perks & facilities (especially burning of petrol for personal purpose and having personal staff much more than entitlement by the Ministers & Bureaucrats. I don't know why PM is keeping quite and also the public persons, who are honest tax payers. The legislature and executive, who have a feudalistic mentality and misusing office perks & facilities are causing great harm to the country. They should be eliminated from the scene for the betterment of the country and for the benefit of the poor.

BBS

Cabinet and officials to see that corruption does not takes place in their respective domains. Any single person can never bring about a change until and unless he gets cooperation of his team members and followers.

Dev Malik

If Prime Minister Narendra Modi undertakes to eliminate corruption, he has to begin charity at home. He should set an example by taking action against his party and party men in various States facing corruption charges. Media reports of and often point out at corruption by none other than senior party people as high as Chief Minister and Ministers. First they should be taken to task.

Anchal Kumar

There is poverty in the country because of corruption. Education and Health Services are very expensive because of corruption. We expect Modi to do something for this evil.

Ganga Tiwari

Corruption in India is an issue that adversely affects the country's economy and the credibility of central, state and local government agencies. But modi is doing at its best.

Shiv Ranjan

The initiatives taken by Modi Government would no doubt reduce corruption to some extent but complete eradication cannot be possible so long as greed and immorality prevail. During the last three years while we have seen improvement at the Centre, across the country in towns and cities the culture remains the same-the police continuing collecting 'haftas' from hawkers, common man still having to pay bribe for getting his work done or for access to benefits he is entitled to. There is ,though optimism that Prime minister Modi will be able to rein in if not fully eradicate corruption in the country.

Aarti khosla

In this materialist world, corruption is a part of life. It can only be controlled.

Vijay Tiwari

If IT used properly then only corruption will vanished, so that system holds the record. Otherwise it is impossible to eradicate corruption from the Country.

Ashok Jain

Modi government has already shown its will. The biggest touted achievement of the present government at the Centre is that you don't hear tales of entrenched corruption. Retail corruption would also certainly appear to have come down.

Sujit

Modi's biggest achievement - huge reduction in big corruption Narendra Modi's biggest achievement in office is, arguably, a huge reduction in big corruption (involving top politicians and industrialists). Hard data on corruption doesn't exist, so assessments can be subjective and incomplete.

Ragarshi

How the poor are benefited now.1 gas prices increase,2-platform ticket increased .3.dal and vegetables prices increased deposit rates decreased .4. crime increased. 5 unemployment much more. What makes happy the poor except media stories ?

Ashok Jaidka

In India we support corruption not protest against it. So it is next to impossible.
